AMERICAN SAILORS ATTACKED AND ROBBED BY MEXICANS.

The most serious of the recent growing list of attacks on Americans in Mexico came to light Saturday.

A boat load of American sailors from the U. S. S. Cheyenne was held up in the Temesi River on July 6, within nine miles of the city of Tampico, and the sailors were robbed.

The American flag was flying from the boat at the time.

Closely resembling the attacks on American sailors which led to the occupation of Vera Cruz in 1914, the State Department did not hesitate to regard it as a most grave affair, and immediately dispatched urgent representations to the Carranza government and the local authorities at Tampico.

Although the sailors were fishing, they were on official duty bringing in food for their ship and the American flag flying from the boat denoted that it was on official business.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The Pacific fleet is being rushed to Mexican waters following the report that American seamen from the United States ship Cheyenne were held up and robbed by Mexicans.

The fleet, under command of Admiral Hugh Rodman, Kentuckian, has been officially ordered to the Pacific coast, but it is stated on good authority here that the 200 vessels comprising the flotilla will cast anchor in several Mexican ports and demand to know "why."

The fleet of warships which left Hampton Roads were joined Sunday by scores of destroyers and other craft, and by the time Mexican waters are reached will number more than 200 vessels.

In spite of the expected "stop off" in Mexican waters, the fleet is scheduled to arrive at the Panama Canal, July 25, at San Diego, Cal., August 7, and at San Francisco, August 17.

Tension in the relations between the United States and Mexico has been increased by the Administration's determination to demand prompt satisfaction from the Mexican Government for the robbery of American seamen on board the launch of the United States steamship Cheyenne, coupled with President Wilson's intention to press an inquiry into the Carroll murder case.

No attempt is made by Washington officials to disguise the fact that Washington regards the situation as serious.

TAXPAYERS CANNOT REFER TO FORMER FIGURES AFTER AUGUST 4.

Bourbon county taxpayers who have failed to give in their tax assessments for 1920 are warned that after August 4, two weeks from yesterday, they will be inconvenienced by the fact that they cannot refer to the figures given in previous years. After complaints are heard on the raises in valuation in the 1919 assessment the books will be in possession of the County Clerk, who will make out a recapitulation for the State Tax Commission, which will pass on the increases made.

Most people like to refer to the figures they gave in the year previous, and they will have the opportunity if they make their assessments within the next two weeks. After the books are in the hands of the County Clerk they will not have a chance to see their previous figures.

THIEVES VISIT GROCERY; SECURE $270 IN CASH

As a result of the visit of thieves to his grocery on Winchester street, in this city, Mr. Tilford Burnett is out the sum of $270 in cash, which had been left overnight in his safe. The thief or thieves effected an entrance through a rear window. They took nothing but the money, passing up the merchandise and a bunch of checks which Mr. Burnett had cashed for railroad men. These latter the thief evidently did not care to risk attempting to negotiate.

It was presumed that the combination of the safe had been left open on the day lock, and that the thief, being aware of this fact, made the best of the knowledge. The robbery was reported to police headquarters, and it is hoped the arrest of the thief and the recovery of the money may soon follow.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE BANNED IN ODD FELLOWS LODGE.

Beginning July 1, every subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows which has heretofore used a ritual translated into foreign language will be required to do the secret work in the English language according to a ruling of the Supreme Grand Lodge received by Secretary Elliott. There are a number of Italian, German, Swedish and Bohemian lodges in the country which will be affected.

INTERESTING OIL NOTES

The army's strength on July 14 was 782,000, of whom 282,000 were in the A. E. F. and 500,000 at sea en route to the United States. Up to date discharges had reached the total of 2,946,804, and the number sailing from Europe since November 11 was 1,717,168.

Chester Strother, who has been a guest of his father, Mr. I. W. Strother, in this city, has returned to his post at Commonwealth Pier, at Boston, Mass. He left the port on one of the ships composing the big fleet that has been sent on a cruise in the Pacific.

That Kentucky is rapidly gaining its deserving rank among the oil producing States in the Union, is indicated in news that powerful Chicago financial interests, backed by the Continental and Commercial National Bank crowd, are acquiring substantial interests in companies operating in Warren and Lee counties.

Three oil tanks of the Southern Petroleum Company, in the Big Sinking district in Lee county, were destroyed by fire when they were struck by lightning in an electrical storm Saturday afternoon, according to reports reaching Lexington. Two of the tanks destroyed had capacities of 1,200 gallons, while a smaller one contained 250 barrels. One of the larger tanks was not full, reports say. Total damages will amount to approximately $3,000.

The pipe line runs for the week ending July 12 reported by the Cumberland Pipe Line Company shows an increase of 4,905.64 barrels over the report of the previous week. During the week ending July 12 a total of 120,934.37 barrels was carried through the Cumberland lines. The report indicates that only 116,028.23 barrels were carried the week before. As has been the case with previous records, the Big Sinking section remains in the lead, producing approximately 63,000 barrels of the total output of the week.

A VOTE FOR BOSWORTH WILL MEAN MUCH TO THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Vote for Henry M. Bosworth for Auditor. He and his intimate friends are workers at the polls at all regular elections. The party needs these kind of men for their nominees. He will add strength to the ticket in November. He is efficient in office and will make an official the people can depend on.

THE K. OF P. MINSTRELS.

Rehearsals for the coming minstrel performance to be given here under the auspices of the local lodge Knights of Pythias, have been progressing nicely. The outlook for an excellent performance is very promising, and the promoters promise the show will be "a hummer."

Due to certain conditions that have arisen the date for the performance has not been definitely decided upon, but it is said it will likely be given about August 7. The date will be announced through the columns of the local press.

There will be no more rehearsals until the night of July 29, at the Y. M. C. A. It will then take but a short time to put on the finishing touches, and get everything "set" for the big night. The show will be put on by two experienced minstrel men, Gov. Bowen and Prof. A. H. Morehead.

TELLS STORY OF HIS LIFE

A large audience assembled in the court house Thursday night to hear Rev. Curtis Jett, tell the story of his life. In a simple, straightforward, but convincing way, he told of the events that had played such conspicuous parts in his life, life, and told how he had become converted to Christianity while a prisoner in the Frankfort Reformatory.

PLENTY OF SUGAR SOON, GUARANTEED BY GOVERNMENT

While retail dealers throughout the country are advising consumers they have difficulty in obtaining normal stocks of sugar, the government has forecast a domestic crop far above the average for the last six years.

The Department of Agriculture, in an estimate based on July 1 crop conditions, predicts a crop of 2,216,000,000 pounds. Such production would be 147,000,000 pounds more than the average of the preceding six years.

Michigan, Colorado and Utah show big increases in beet sugar prospects. Forecasts show Michigan's crop as 1,159,000 tons, an increase of 257,000 tons; Colorado's 2,024,000 tons, increase 580,000, and Utah's 1,208,000 tons, increase 205,000 tons.

Locally, the sugar situation remains about the same, with a scarcity of the sweet stuff distressingly apparent. All kinds of cute dodges have been resorted to by housekeepers in an effort to obtain an ample supply of sugar. In some instances dealers have refused to sell over a certain number of pounds to any one person, and in an effort to get around that parties have been known to send as many as a half-dozen messengers to the grocer for a supply of sugar. At one place on upper Main street Saturday night THE NEWS man saw a bunch of customers gathered around a sugar barrel, the contents of which were rapidly exhausted, as the precious saccharine matter was weighed out and delivered to the waiting customers. Another barrel was rolled into place, and went the same way.

Large shipments of sugar are on the way to local dealers, and with the blackberry season out of the way there will soon be an abundance of sugar for all purposes.

MISS WAGERS ON AN INSPECTION TOUR.

Miss Minnie B. Wagers, Assistant State Labor Inspector, was in Paris some time ago, inspecting the stores, business houses and taking a peek into the condition of working people of the city. It was stated Saturday that as a result of Miss Wagers' report, the proprietor of a certain business house in Paris will be required to answer before the United States Court to a charge of violating the labor laws by working women clerks beyond the legal number of hours. It is also stated that there is also a large corporation doing business in this city under surveillance.

Miss Wagers stated last week that she found conditions in the smaller towns in Kentucky worse than in the larger cities. This she attributed to the fact that the stores in most of the smaller towns are kept open at night, especially on Saturdays, and that the country people flock to the stores in the evening. She didn't find this to be the case in Paris, as the merchants generally are obeying the laws regarding employment of child labor and the hours for female employees.

Miss Wagers will leave this week on another inspection tour of the State, visiting factories, stores and all business houses, particularly to find out if there are crowded or unsanitary conditions, or if long and hard hours are kept by employees. She will probably pay Paris another official visit.

PARIS MAN HAS NARROW ESCAPE IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

A narrow escape from a serious injury occurred in Lexington, Sunday afternoon about four o'clock, when two automobiles, one driven by Mr. A. Hendryx, of Paris, and the other by Mr. B. F. Hambrick, of Lexington, collided at the corner of Short and Walnut streets.

The accident occurred as the two machines were attempting to turn the corner. The machine driven by Mr. Hambrick, which was proceeding along Short street, was struck by the other car about midway, throwing it upon the sidewalk. The occupants of both cars escaped injury. Mr. Hambrick's car was badly damaged, one wheel being almost torn off and the rear axle broken. A broken bumper totaled the damage done to Mr. Hendryx's car. Bystanders stated that the accident was clearly unavoidable and that no one was to blame.

WORK ON NEW DAM PROGRESSING SLOWLY.

Owing to the fact that the supply of material for the construction work has not yet arrived, nothing of a substantial nature is being done toward erecting the new dam at the Paris Milling Co.'s plant in this city. The big concrete mixer has been placed in position, and other necessary preparations are being made for rushing the work just as soon as the material arrives on the spot.

The water is being rapidly pumped for the big pool at the foot of the old dam, which for generations has served as a bathing and fishing spot for Paris people. A large double-action pump has been placed in action on the old dam, and is pumping a four-inch stream of water from the pool, which is being diverted through the mill race of the Milling Co. Hundreds of people have visited the spot, and all day Sunday the big platform from where the mixed concrete and other material will be sent down to the workmen has been thronged with people watching the progress of the pumping. Game Warden Doug Thomas and assistants seized the pool late Saturday night, and placed a large number of fish, both large and small, in the waters of the creek above the old dam.

There will be no larger supply of water available until the dam is completed. As soon as this work is done, the sluice gate at Spears Mill dam, seven miles above Paris, on the waters of Stoner Creek, will be opened, and a sufficient supply of water will be let down.

Older residents of Paris recall the time when the old mill pool, which was then very deep and very large, was pumped out in order to make needed repairs to the dam above it. The work was done in a very short while. In searching the bed of the pool boys found a hunting case gold watch which had been in the waters no telling how long. It was taken to one of the local jewelers, who, after careful inspection, pronounced it in first-class shape, and had it in good running order in a short while. Old coins and other valuable articles, lost in the pool by fishermen, were also found. An old revolver of the Civil War kind, cap-and-ball, was found by one boy.

DEMAND FOR BLUEGRASS SEED HEAVIER THAN USUAL

It is admitted that the demand for blue grass seed will be greater than usual this season, on account of the fact that the large amount of land cultivated for war purposes during the past few years is now available for grass seed. The export demand, which has been practically nothing since the beginning of the war, will open up, and all of this, on top of two or three light crops in succession, will tend to put blue grass seed in a strong position.

The Kentucky market is regulated in a large measure by the size of the Missouri crop, and while the crop there has been estimated by dealers to total 600,000 bushels, a letter received by a local farmer from a reliable and experienced blue grass seed man at Kansas City, declared that the crop amounts to only 250,000 bushels, and that this had been bought up close by the dealers at $1.60 to $2.00 per bushel.

The Kentucky farmers should receive high prices for their 1919 crop. All kinds of seeds are high in this State, and a prominent farmer stated the other day that the farmer will make a mistake to turn loose his grass seed at anything less than its real value under present conditions.

CARRANZA'S TROOPS THREATENING AMERICAN BORDER

Carranza troops are threatening the American border, it was revealed in Congress when Senators and the Governor of Texas protested demobilization of the air service. Several times in the last few months American soldiers have crossed the border and killed Mexican Federal troops, Senator Fall said. President Wilson and Acting Secretary of State Polk held a long conference and it is believed that the crisis has been reached in the Mexican situation and that the Government will take immediate steps to end the destruction of American property and lives by an armed invasion of Mexico.

SIMMS OFFERS $25,000 FOR THE ASHLAND YEARLINGS.

Thomas C. McDowell has declined an offer of $25,000 from Edward F. Simms for his crop of yearlings, twelve in number, of which nine are fillies and three colts.

The offer was made recently during a visit to Ashland by the Texas and Kentucky sportsman, who examined critically the colts and fillies by The Manager, Uncle, Ballot, and one or two other sires.

The yearlings include a sister to Eddie Rickenbacher, winner of more than $6,000 this season, and of St. Augustine, which won a mile at La-tonia and covered the distance in 1:36 4-5.

Other fillies are a brown by Dick Flannell—Affable, a brown by Jim Gaffney—Star Jasmine, a chestnut by Ballot—Star Cat, a bay by Uncle—King's Daughter. Among the colts are a chestnut by Peter Quince—Belle of Ashland, a chestnut by The Manager—Waterblossom, and a chestnut by The Manager—Lucy Lockett.

EDITORIAL MUSINGS.

Two Stories That Illustrates Two Points.

The first story illustrates the point that price usually determines the quality. It is about an Indian named Big Smoke, who was employed as a missionary to his fellow smokers out in Oklahoma.

A tourist once asked him what he did for a living.

"Umph!" said Big Smoke, "me preachum."

"That so? What do you get for preaching?"

"Me get ten dollars a year."

"Well," commented the white man, "that's d—n poor pay."

"Umph!" replied Big Smoke, "me d—n poor preacher."

The second story is about a Scotchman and shows how you may sometimes get the same or better results with less costs.

Three men went in the smoking compartment of a Pullman. They got to talking and relating their experiences in various parts of the world and one, seeking to make an impression on his companions, lit a cigar with a dollar bill.

Not to be outdone, the second of the two, not long after used a two dollar bill for the same purpose.
The third traveler who was a Scot, filling up his briar pipe again wrote a check for a thousand dollars. Then scratching a match he applied it to the check and calmly lit his pipe with it.

You'll agree that of the three, he pulled off the best stunt, without cost to himself.

The Month of July.

In July it's customary to write of liberty because July is the birth-month of the Declaration of Independence. Wonder if you ever stopped to think what liberty really is?
Some people seem to think it's the right to vote. As we remember the Declaration, it guarantees to every man equal privileges in (among other things) the pursuit of happiness. Isn't that a pretty good definition of liberty? Life is after all pursuit of happiness. We eat food, not to satisfy us, but for the pleasure of eating, we wear clothes, not to keep us warm, but for the satisfaction of looking nice. We build homes not to protect us, but so that we can better pursue happiness. Our every action, word and thought is in pursuit of that something which will give us more of the good things of life.

Then everything that helps to make life easier or living less a hardship tends towards liberty. The article you are manufacturing is not salable unless it makes labor, easier or in some way adds to the comfort and happiness of the human race.
Therefore, whatever you are making and marketing, is an agent of liberty.
It is helping to free the world. Never thought of it that way, did you?

This Is The Time To Do It.

State Road Commissioner Rodman Wiley, of Kentucky, says that "in some parts of Hancock, Breckinridge and Meade counties it actually costs more to haul the products of the farm from the producer to the railroad station than it does to haul the same material over the railroads from Louisville to New York."

It would be easy to pick out counties in any State in the South of which the same thing might truthfully be said.

Good roads cost money, it is true;
but the roads that cost the most are not the good roads. The most expensive roads in your county are not the roads you have paid taxes to make good. They are the roads you pay taxes to leave bad—the roads that compel you to haul smaller loads, to spend more time, to pull your horses harder, to strain your vehicles more whenever you drive over them. This country is paying more for mud roads every year than it is paying for macadam, concrete and asphalt combined. "The worse the road, the more it costs."

There has never been a better time to build good roads than right now.
If your county or your community needs better roads, you cannot afford not to be helping it to get them.

Clean Bill of Health.

The Surgeon General announces that of the two million officers and men who have been demobilized since the armistice was signed more than ninety-three per cent. were discharged with a clean bill of health. Of those suffering disabilities only one per cent. were held for communicable diseases. Most of the men who have entered the army have now returned to civil life; and at the time of their return they were in better physical condition than before they entered the army. These figures are high praise for the medical staff of the army, and it is also a vindication of the policy so strongly advocated by Secretary of War Baker for the provision of all comforts and amusements for the purpose of keeping soldiers from dissipation.

School Per Capita Increase.

The school per capita in Kentucky has been increased to $6.10, an advance of 85 cents over last year, and it is said that on this basis there is now an opportunity for an increase in the pay of the teachers of Kentucky. There is no doubt that the men and women who direct the education of the young folks in the State are inadequately paid for their services, and there is no way money could be better expended than by adding to their emoluments and attracting to the profession the best talent in the Commonwealth.

Korea Another Belgium.

For months the American press has been filled with reports of atrocities in Korea. Heretofore the atrocities though often good, were not what one would consider conclusive.
But now comes the Presbyterian Church and from its headquarters in New York issues a statement relative to atrocities. Korea, the report claims, is another Belgium. It has been mistreated by Japan in a way that is beyond excuse or palliation.
The first step of the League of Nations should be toward an examination and rectification of the Korean situation.

CANNED CORN FOR CATTLE

Silos are increasing in number very rapidly in Kentucky. Cattle feeders and dairymen are using canned corn for cattle more generally each season.
The Extension Division of the College of Agriculture is using every effort this season to have a record number of silos erected in the State.

HEROIC WAR PIGEONS

Flock That Did Wonderful Deeds Returns Home.

"General Muir" Comes With Breast Shattered as Result of Many Exploits.

New York.—With breast shattered, but still alive, General Muir, one of the greatest war heroes, returned recently. As the steamer pulled into New York harbor, General Muir sat on the deck wrapped in a blanket that bore several wound and service stripes. There was no perceptible sign that he realized where he was.
He made no comment.

Reporters tried in vain to interview him. Sergt. Fred J. Hermann, his commander, did all the talking. You see—General Muir is a carrier pigeon.

He was one of the seven birds of the intelligence service of the A. E.
F. that the transport brought home.
General Muir's exploits are many.
On one occasion, having been assigned to deliver a message of great importance to a post 18 miles away, he flew through shrapnel and gas, and past a squadron of Germans that had been sent out to intercept carrier pigeons and delivered the message in just 33 minutes.

With his breast torn open, with his wings singed by fire, and eyes blinded with blood, he kept on till he had reached his objective.

King Cole, another pigeon, is the nearest rival of General Muir for fame. He was a messenger in the last Argonne drive and flying through a cloud of gas fell into an abandoned trench. There he lay in the mud for two days, and gathering strength, arose, and came home with the message.

Real Cop Lines Up With Five Dummies

New York.—Critics of the police department will always say bad things, but it took "one of the finest" to deliver the unkindest cut of all.

Exactly what will happen to this patrolman for his reflection upon his fellow members of the force is not known, but last night he was still holding down his new job in the bureau of uniforms at headquarters.

In the office of the bureau
there are five clothing dummies all fitted out with resplendent uniforms. The initiated workers in the place have learned by long experience that these dummies are not members of the force, but the new man entered the place unwarned.

There stood the five dummies as if at attention, and being unable to discern the difference between them and real cops the new man fell right into line and assumed the same attitude.

After holding this position for about five minutes he nudged
the next dummy and asked:
"How long do we have to keep this up?"

In reports of the matter the patrolman's name was deleted, for the police are strong believers in secrecy nowadays.

SCENE IN BULGARIA

French soldiers having their shoes shined by Bulgarian kiddies at Kustendal, a typical Bulgarian city. Most of the kids have no shoes, while others have them so badly worn that they are practically useless. Although they smile at the cameraman, their clothes are literally hanging from their bodies in rags. Even the man on the corner (left) has no shoes at all, and his "clothes" are held together by pieces of string.

Belgians Want to Stay.

London.—Over 70,000 Belgians have been repatriated from England, but there are still 100,000 who want to stay, according to home office figures.
British labor unions object.

Waxahachie, Tex.—The Cincinnati
Reds are to have a "mosquitotest" here next spring. The city has hired a mosquito killer at $35 a month.

by the Federal forest service and the private forest protective association to fight forest fires in Montana and Idaho that were threatening two Western Montana towns and millions of feet of standing white pine.

High winds, abnormally high temperatures combined with parched forests are all but rendering the efforts of 1,000 men fighting the many forest fires useless. The towns threatened with destruction are Atherton and St. Regis, in Montana.

Between 700 and 1,000 acres in the Helena forest are burning, ravaging some of the timber and destroying the old mining town camp of Jintown, one and one-half miles from York. The blaze has been burning for weeks, most of the time under control, but high winds spread it rapidly and meager reports indicate the fighters are being beaten steadily backward.

To attempt to stop the Rattlesnake Creek fire in the Missoula, Mont., forest, the fire fighters have made a fire line of more than 23 miles.
The fire itself has a six-mile front.

COST OF CULTURE.

(Philadelphia Ledger)

The college freshman year was proving very expensive to father, so father decided to have a "heart-to-heart" talk with Charles, home for the week.

"Now, son," said he gravely, but affectionately, "your mother and I are spending just as little as we possibly can. I get up in the morning at 6:30 and I work until after 5.
But son, the money just won't go round at the rate your expenses are running. What do you think we had better do?"

For a moment Charles' head was buried in thought, and then he replied:

"Well, father, I don't see any way out but for you to work nights."

United States Army Perfects Fine Telephone System in Occupied Territory.

HANDLE 15,000 CALLS DAILY

Enables Commanding General to Keep Hand on Pulse of Army—Operators Speak English, French and German.

Coblentz.—At the time the Americans began withdrawing from Germany the United States army had perfected one of the finest telephone systems in Europe. From the headquarters of the third army in Coblentz fifty long-distance lines had been set up and it is possible for the commanding general to sit in his office and talk with American officers in London, Berlin, Vienna, Rotterdam, Brussels, Antwerp, Paris and various other European points.

The army of occupation has a telephone system closely resembling the best commercial system in the United States. On the top floor of the headquarters building in Coblentz a nine-position switchboard was installed soon after the Americans reached the Rhine. Scattered throughout Coblentz are twenty private branch exchanges of the various units of headquarters. Connected to this system are more than four hundred "subscribers" in addition to the fifty long-distance lines.

16,000 Miles of Wire.

Within the German occupied area there has been established by the signal corps under the direction of Col. Parker Hitt, chief signal officer, a network of wires connecting the various units of the third army. Direct lines connect with all the corps and divisions, approximately 16,000 miles of wire being in service.

This extensive plant has not, however, been built by the third army, but consists almost altogether of the German lines taken over by the signal corps and so arranged as to meet the needs of the army. Sufficient circuits were left, however, for the civilian population to carry on their business.

More than 15,000 calls are registered daily on the Coblentz switchboard. With the establishment of an exchange in Coblentz it was necessary to employ operators who could speak English, French and German. The fifteen operators on duty in Coblentz are all members of the women's telephone corps and have been in the service more than a year. The chief operator, Miss Helen Cook, was a former employee of the American Telephone and Telegraph company of New York. Previous to joining the American expeditionary force, Miss Cook spent six years as instructor for the Bell system in offices in Chicago, Minneapolis, Omaha, Cleveland, Detroit and Memphis.

"Doodlebug" Code Name.

The word "Doodlebug" is the code name of the third army switchboard in Coblentz, the corps and divisions also retaining the code names that were assigned them during the war. On the back of a twenty-page telephone directory issued by the third army the artist's conception of a "doodlebug" has been reproduced in the shape of a bug made up of a combination of sabres, rifles and an aerial bomb.

All the apparatus, including switchboards, telephone instruments, and, in fact, everything excepting the wires, is of American manufacture and is to be taken out when the Americans in force say good-by to the Rhine and start for France and home.

TO MAKE JOBS FOR CRIPPLES

Australian Government Buys American Invention to Provide Employment for Returned Soldiers.

Menominee, Mich.—A one-armed man operating the newly invented Lloyd loom so impressed Hon. G. M. S. McNeillage, member of the Australian legislature, during a trip through the Lloyd Manufacturing company's plant here that arrangements were completed by cable whereby the Australian government pays $250,000 for rights to use the machine as well as Lloyd's new method of production. They will only be used in giving employment to returned and crippled soldiers and sailors.

The Lloyd loom is the first mechanical device ever made which will weave reed or fiber for baby carriages, furniture or baskets. From the very earliest time—even when Moses was found in the bullrushes, tucked into a hand-made reed basket—these articles have been woven by hand. Marshall B. Lloyd struggled many years over the task while scores of others failed. Success has finally come in a machine which will weave these fabrics thirty times faster than the most skilled hand-worker can, and with much greater perfection.

Gas Woodchucks.

Winsted, Conn.—Gassing woodchucks is the latest method of exterminating them in Massachusetts. The idea was tried out on the farm of Elbert L. Fargo, near Marlboro, and proved a success.

A hose was attached to the exhaust of an automobile engine and extended down the hole. By use of a liberal mixture of gas the rodents were killed.

FISH BEING DISTRIBUTED BY FISH COMMISSION.

While in Paris a few days ago, Mr. J. Quincy Ward, of Frankfort, Executive Agent of the State Game and Fish Commission, stated that he had received a letter from Mr. Walker D. Hines, Director-General of Railroads, in which he conveyed the information that the fish car of the Commission could not be hauled longer free of charge. The rate for the car is thirty cents a mile. The Commission is now without funds to handle the car, which will handicap their work in the distribution of fish to the streams in the State.

Quite recently a large lot of small-mouth and big-mouth bass have been placed in the streams of the Central Kentucky counties, including Bourbon. A large number of requests for fish are now on file in the office of the Commissioner at Frankfort, but it is hard to say, according to Mr. Ward, when they can be filled, as owing to the ruling of Mr. Hines, it will be impossible to comply at the present time.

Mr. Edward Simms, owner of the Xalapa Farm, on the North Middletown pike, near Paris, has constructed a fish hatchery on the place and wants it stocked with fish from the Macklin hatchery in Franklin county. He also has four miles of stream running through his farm, and desires the creek stocked, also. Mr. Simms started the hatchery on his farm several years ago. It embraces four large pools. The fish from these pools would be sufficient to restock most of the streams in the county. Mr. Ward stated that young bass and newlights from the Simms hatchery are now being distributed in the streams of Bourbon county.

COLLEGE TO MAKE CHEESE

College of Agriculture will build a model creamery in the near future in which instruction will be given in the manufacture of ice cream, cheese and butter. In addition to the regular and short courses which will be offered to those students who are anxious to specialize in the work of operating creameries, cheese factories and ice cream plants.

Mr. J. O. Barkman, of the Dairy Department of the Ohio State University, will have charge of the creamery. It is understood that he expects to place special emphasis upon the utilization of surplus milk and also upon an increased output of cottage cheese and cheddar cheese.

POTATOES HAVE WARTS

The potato wart has appeared in Pennsylvania. The potato wart, unlike that to which the human family is heir, is extremely dangerous and frequently grows until it becomes as large as the potato itself. Uncle Sam wishes all Kentucky growers of the spud to be on the lookout for this disease. The town gardener and the big farmer should be on the lookout for potatoes that have warts and at once notify Mr. R. C. Faulwetter, of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, at his summer office at the Experiment Station at Lexington.

AN INVESTMENT WITH NO RISK.

In Washington, D. C., 900 War Savings Societies have been organized, and the membership is in excess of 22,000. That stately Treasury building, with its hoards of gold, which is back of every security issued by the United States Government should appeal no more to the Washington youngster than the broad and fertile acres of Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky. They, too, are security for Government loans, and every United States Bond will be redeemed with interest just as surely as the nation continues to exist.

BEWARE THE GET-RICH-QUICK MAN.

In these days when money is much easier to get than in days that many can remember, the "get-rich-quick" plan is a favorite temptation held alluringly before the public. The Treasury Department has recently issued a bulletin dealing with this pernicious evil. The really wise person who cannot afford to "take a chance" finds in the War Savings Stamp an investment just to his liking. He may invest as little as $5 or he may invest up to $1,000, and the little "baby bond" is safe guarded just as much as the $1,000 bond—drawing four per cent. compounded quarterly and is absolutely safe.

Law of Progress.

Let us then be of good cheer. From the great law of progress we may derive at once our duties and our encouragements. Humanity has ever advanced; thwarted sometimes by obstacles which have caused it for a time—a moment only; in the immensity of ages—to deviate from its true lines, or seem to retreat; but still ever onward.—Charles Sumner.

Family Verbs.

Speaking of odd verbs, it has been the custom for years in a certain Boston family to say when the weather has cleared, "It has niced up." The other day, one of them was even heard to say, "It has niced up nicely."—Boston Transcript.

Many ingenious substitutes are being employed in England for the window glass which has been broken in the last four years.

Arriving there he found the druggists and physicians of the city assembled to greet him, and to help him enjoy a splendid dinner tendered by his daughters, Miss Rosalee Oberdorfer and Mrs. Harry Linville. Many toasts were proposed for the future happiness and prosperity of the guest of honor and fittingly responded to. The occasion was a memorable one in the life career of Dr. Oberdorfer, who enjoys the friendship of the members of his profession and a large circle of friends. (Other Personals on Page 5)

FOR THE FATHERLESS CHILDREN OF FRANCE.

The children of France have not yet emerged from the shadow of the war. With peace assured, and a happier future opening before them, it becomes increasingly evident that the child life of France has suffered a shock from which it is difficult to rally; while the birth rate has dropped to 8 to each 1,000 population.

The Fatherless Children of France, an American organization co-operating with a similar one in Paris, of which Marshal Joffre is the head, reports that of the children receiving American aid to the extent of 10 cents a day under its plan of securing American god-mothers for the French war waifs, its records show an average of 700 children's death per month since the armistice. The help of the American godmothers came too late to save these undernourished nerve-shocked little ones.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, of Chicago, vice-chairman of the Fatherless Children of France, has been appointed chairman of a campaign to secure American aid for the 60,000 little war orphans whose names were on the lists of the organization as "unadopted" before the signing of the armistice. Ten cents will care for a child for an entire day; $3.00 for a month; while for $36.50 a year the donor may select a child from the lists at the organization's headquarters and be placed in correspondence with it. To adopt a child or make a donation, write for information to Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Room 634, 410 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

NEW PACIFIC FLEET TO HAVE 175 SHIPS.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Approximately 175 ships, with an aggregate tonnage of more than 500,000, will constitute the newly organized Pacific fleet, it was said by the Navy Department officials. At full strength, the armada will be manned by about 34,000 men and 1,800 commissioned officers, but the personnel will be about 30 per cent. below this strength when the fleet begins its history-making voyage from Hampton Roads Saturday.

Pre-deadnoughts—Vermont, Ne-ships: Dreadnoughts—New Mexico, included in the fleet will be these: Wyoming, Arkansas, Mississippi, Idaho, Arizona, Texas and New York, braska, Georgia, Rhode Island, Virginia and New Jersey.

Cruisers—Seattle, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Tacoma, Marblehead, Machias, Vicksburg, Montana, North Carolina and Pueblo.

There will be 108 destroyers of the new 1,400-ton flush deck type, built after the United States entered the war. They will be divided into two squadrons with the scout cruiser Birmingham and Salem as flagships and with the Melville, Prairie, Buffalo and Black Hawk as tenders.

In the fleet also will be 14 submarines of the S type, with the Savannah as tender. The mine detachment will comprise the cruiser Baltimore as flagship, the mine layer Aroostook and the mine sweepers Ortolan, Partridge, Redwing, Seagull, Thrush, Whippoorwill, Tanager, Lapwing, Tern, Bittern, Sandpiper, Vireo.

The fleet train will comprise the cruiser Minneapolis as flagship and the repair ship Vestal, hospital ships Comfort and Mercy, supply ships Rappahannock, Flaciar and Celtic, fuel ships Aethusa, Manumee, Neches, Kanawha, Brutus, Vulcan, Mars, target repair ship Nanshan, radio repair ship Saturn and 11 tugs.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC TO EUROPE GROWS HEAVIER.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Three trans-Atlantic liners leaving here July 12 carried 3,235 passengers, making a total of 6,140 passengers for the week on six large ships. Passenger representatives of the various lines and customs authorities said this was one of the largest weeks in departure of civilians far abroad that has been recorded since 1914.

Especially heavy is the movement of third-class passengers for Italy. At the United States customhouse, where all departing passengers must call to have their passports vided, there has been a solid line of men in column of twos extending for more than a block around the building every day this week.

Announcement from Washington that restrictions regarding trade with Germany is to be lifted soon, has resulted in a large number of applications for passage to that country being filed at offices of steamship lines going to Scandinavian ports. These applications come from all parts of the United States.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS AS PRIZES

For many years the Odd Fellows Home, an institution for the care and training of orphaned children of Odd Fellows, at Liberty, Clay County, Mo., has been reckoned as one of the best managed institutions of the kind in the United States. This year an innovation has been brought about, and the results are even more pleasing than was expected. Heretofore during the scholastic year a series of prizes for excellence in classes, deportment and accomplishment have been given. These prizes have always heretofore consisted of medals. This year the prizes awarded have been War Stamps, and the prizes themselves have fitted in so well with the study of thrift that the student body took even a keener interest in the competition than ever.

INVESTIGATION IS ORDERED OF LUXURY TAX DELINQUENTS

A special drive for the collection of luxury taxes has been announced by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Instructions have been sent to all collectors by Commissioner Roper to begin a thorough canvass for delinquents who have not been turning in the full amount to which the government is entitled on the sales of soft drinks, theatre admissions, club dues, jewelry, art works, wearing apparel, toilet articles, boats and certain manufacturers and occupational taxes.

Cities and counties have been divided into zones and as many members of the field force assigned to the work as can be spared from other duties.

Books and records will be examined where the collectors deem it necessary.

"In every case," Mr. Roper said, "warranted by investigation, penalties assessed by law for failure or wilful refusal to make returns will be enforced strictly."

SUMMER COMPLAINT IN CHILDREN.

There is not anything like so many deaths from this disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say that fully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr. W. G. Campbell, of Butler, Tenn., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose."

PARIS AUTO THIEVES ARRESTED IN CHICAGO.

Harris Bailey and Mrs. Frank Jones, both colored, were arrested by Chicago police Friday, on a charge of stealing an automobile from Mr. Morris Stern, of this city. The news of the arrest came to Chief of Police Link in a message from Chief of Detectives Mooney, of Chicago. Frank Jones, colored, wanted on the same charge, is being searched for. The car was recovered by the Chicago police.

Chief Link learned that Jones had told here that he was going to Chicago to start a garage. He also learned that Jones had shipped three trunks by express to Dayton, Ohio. Inquiry of the Dayton police brought the information that the parties had been in Dayton and had ordered the trunks forwarded to Chicago, where they would be called for. The Chicago police were communicated with and the arrests followed.

The car, together with a lot of tools belonging to Mr. Stern, was taken from the garage on Eighth street last Tuesday, where Jones had been repairing it. It is said that Jones is wanted in Mobile, Ala., on the charge of stealing an automobile. He came to Paris about four months ago, and secured employment as an auto mechanic.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC—DANGER IN CROSSING TRACKS

Owing to the fact that a large number of freight trains are constantly in motion in the vicinity of the platform where the material for the new dam is to be built, the Louisville & Nashville officials have requested Mayor January to station a policeman there to keep people off the tracks, as it is a constant source of danger.

Not desiring to use up any of the city's money for that purpose Mayor January requests the people to remain away from the vicinity of where the work is being done, or go to the other side, near the Paris Milling Co.'s and take a view of the work. In view of possible loss of life or limb incurred in crossing the tracks the warning to stay away is imperative. The point the railway people desire to impress is the danger of someone being caught on the tracks by a train and badly injured. In reality the spectators are trespassing on railroad property. The officials and the Mayor hope the public will heed this warning and save trouble all around.

RENTERS BUY HOMES ONE REASON FOR HIGH PRICES.

Real estate in Paris, according to local real estate agents, is selling for good prices. The speculation will probably continue for some time. The situation here is not different from other Central Kentucky towns. One of the real estate men said Saturday:

"There seems to be more money in the country now than there ever was, and people are beginning to invest the money they have recently accumulated from high farm products and other sources, in homes. Many who have been renters in the past, have just now saved enough to make the first payment on a home or a farm. This is, in my opinion, one of the chief reasons for the so-called boom in real estate."

Another reason, probably, according to real estate men and contractors, is the high cost of building. It has been cheaper recently to buy, if possible, than to build.

BLACKBERRY PICKERS BUSY.

With the large crop of blackberries raised in Nicholas, Robertson and other counties this season, the price has not been lowered any, and the luscious fruit is retailing at $1.50 per bucket on the local market. Many Paris people have taken matters in their own hands, and with trucks and autos have made excursions to the blackberry patches, where they have secured large quantities of the berries. Bushes are loaded down with the berries and hundreds of gallons are going to waste because of the scarcity of help to pick them and the scarcity of sugar. Two residents of the county made a trip recently to Salt Lick, in Bath county, returning with eighty-nine gallons of berries. One of the party said he picked three gallons of ripe fruit on a plot of ground no bigger than an ordinary family room. Crews of freight trains coming to Paris have brought a plentiful supply of berries with them from the counties along the line of the Louisville & Nashville.

IN THE SERVICE OF THEIR COUNTRY.

Ben Leach, of Paris, who has been in the service for eighteen months, on the U. S. S. Montana, writes, under date of July 9, from Norfolk, Va., to a member of THE NEWS force, as follows:

"Norfolk, Va., July 9, 1919.

"Dear Friend:—Here we are back in the States for good. We returned from Brest, France, on June 30, landing in New York with our last cargo of troops, and we now in the Portsmouth Navy Yard for slight repairs, making ready to sail for the West Coast.

"We did our duty throughout the war conveying the troop ships across. We made thirteen single life or ship. Throughout rough and calm we made our way back and forth, until all was done, and on the day before the armistice was signed we lifted our anchor from the Chesapeake Bay, and shoved off for Canada to do duty there. On our arrival we were recalled to New York, where we fitted the ship up with a sufficient number of bunks to carry two thousand men, besides the regular crew of seven hundred. We were thirty days getting ready for this new duty, and on December 21, we left the sheds at Hoboken, N. J., bound for Brest, France, on our first transport trip. We reached Brest on January 1, 1919, and I left the ship at ten o'clock a. m. with the liberty party, it being my first step on foreign land. It was quite a sight for me. We were permitted to walk into the bars and get anything we desired, it being the first place I have been admitted to a bar since putting on a uniform.

"We made six transport trips, carrying a total of 12,000 troops back to 'God's country.' I thought carrying troops was going to be a rather unpleasant task, but I soon found it altogether different. The soldiers all proved to be good fellows, and it was lots of company to have them on board. On one trip I met an old friend from Paris, Lucien Arnsparger. That was some time ago and no doubt he has been released from the service by this time. I guess most of the boys from the old town, both in the army and navy, have also returned home by this time. I don't know when I will be out, but prospects look good for about the first of November.

"We are to leave Norfolk, Saturday, on our trip West, going by way of the Panama Canal, then up the coast to Bremerton, Washington, a distance of six thousand miles. We are to make it in about twenty-five days, making one stop in California for coal. When we reach our assigned place it will make a total of more than twenty-five thousand miles I have traveled by water, and while going that distance I have been for more than eight months out of sight of land. Adding together the days we were in port between trips it would amount to less than four months, that including thirty days we were in the Navy Yard in 1918, and the thirty we were in New York, putting in bunks.

"I think I have seen my part of the war, and I am now ready to return to civilian life, hoping to be at home some time in November. With best regards to all, I hope to remain, "Sincerely Yours,

"BEN K. LEACH,
"U. S. S. Montana, Care Postmaster,
New York, N. Y."

With his habitual good-natured smile and a glad hand for all whom he had known in the days before Uncle Sam claimed his services, Edgar "Smiley" Dodge, returned to Paris last week after a long service overseas. Corp. Dodge landed at Newport News some days ago, from where he went to Camp Zachary Taylor, receiving his final discharge papers there. He was a member of the First Pioneer Infantry of the Expeditionary Forces. Being a "natural-born mechanic" he was able to render Uncle Sam unusual service, and, in recognition of his special fitness for that kind of work the Government gave him a special three-months' course in mechanical engineering at the A. E. F. University at Beaune, France. Corp. "Smiley" and his motorcycle are again familiar sights along the highways of the county.

After spending a fifteen days' furlough with relatives in this city, Capt. Jas. A. Orr has returned to Camp Zachary Taylor, where he will receive his discharge from the army service. Capt. Orr spent nine months in the Medical Corps branch of the service in France. He had just been recommended for promotion to the rank of Major, when an order was issued by the Secretary of War Baker that no more promotions would be made in that branch of the army. Capt. Orr will return to Paris and resume the practice of medicine with Dr. Chas. G. Daugherty.

Corporal Herman Barlow has been released from the service, having received his final discharge papers at Camp Zachary Taylor, and returned to his home on Tenth street, in this city. Corp. Barlow saw several months' service overseas. He enlisted in the service in the early part of RELIGIOUS.

—Rev. R. C. Goldsmith, pastor of the Paris Baptist church, preached at the morning service in the Mt. Sterling Baptist church, Sunday.

—Rev. Dr. C. Connor Brown, of North Carolina, preached at the Presbyterian church, in this city, Sunday at the morning service at 10:45 o'clock. Miss Mary Dan Harbeson sang a beautiful solo, "If Christ Should Come Again." Dr. Brown also preached at the same place Sunday, it being a union service of all the churches.

There was a large crowd at the old Cane Ridge church Sunday when Rev. Frank M. Tindler, pastor of the North Middletown Christian church, delivered an eloquent sermon dealing principally with historical events in the history of the church. Over one hundred years ago Rev. Barton W. Stone held a great interstate revival at the old Cane Ridge church, which was the founding of the Christian church in Kentucky.

At the Methodist church at the morning service Sunday, the pastor, Rev. G. R. Combs, delivered an interesting sermon to the congregation, dealing with the proceedings of the great Centenary celebration at Columbus, Ohio.

REGARDING THE ICE SHORTAGE.

The capacity of the Paris Ice Manufacturing Co.'s plant is forty tons a day. The plant is now reduced to fourteen tons a day capacity, owing to the low stage and the high temperature of the water. If the hot weather continues it is possible that the capacity and output of the plant may be reduced still lower. The only relief is for heavy rains to continue. As the water supply increases and the water becomes cooler, the ice plant can increase its capacity. Ice cream and soda water dispensers, butchers, hotels and boarding houses are hard hit.

The shortage in the supply of ice is causing considerable discomfort to the citizens of Paris, but they are assured that the situation will be relieved as soon as the new dam at the Paris Milling Co.'s plant is completed, which, it is stated at present, will be a matter of from thirty to forty days at the earliest.

Mr. Phil Nippert, manager of the Paris Ice Manufacturing Co.'s plant, has issued the following statement to the public regarding the rumor in circulation to the effect that he had requested the Lexington Ice Co. not to supply Paris dealers with ice:

"To The People of Paris and Bourbon County:

"Information reached us Friday morning from Mayor January that complaints had come to him to the effect that the Lexington Ice Manufacturing Company had been requested by us not to furnish ice to Paris and Bourbon county people. We asked the Mayor to take this matter up immediately with the Lexington company, and furnish him the names of the manager and assistant manager. The Mayor was informed by them that Mr. Nippert, of the Paris company, had been pleading with them to let any and all Paris and Bourbon county people who desired ice to have all they wanted, stating that it would be a personal favor to him.

"PHIL NIPPERT,
"Manager Paris Ice Manufacturing Company."

SIX-WORD WILL GIVES $200,000 TO SERVANT

A will of six words, scribbled hastily on the margin of a daily market report four minutes before the testator died, was filed in Surrogate's Court, in New York. The writer was Alexander William Waters, general agent of the American Fruit Exchange. With the words, "All I have belongs to Zulma," he left his $200,000 estate to Zulma Powell, his housekeeper.

1918, and in seventeen days after leaving New York harbor, was on the firing line. He participated in battles on three battle fronts, and was in most of the big engagements during the war.

Baldwin Woods, of Paris, who has been in the hospital branch of the service, as a member of the Barrow Unit No. 40, has returned from overseas, and is temporarily located at Camp Merritt, New Jersey, in this city. Woods was transferred from the Barrow Unit to the Hospital Unit No. 53, and was stationed at Marseilles, France, up to the time of his embarkation for America.

Ensign Prentice Slade, of Lexington, well-known in Paris, has gone to Detroit, Mich., to enter the newspaper field with the Booth syndicate papers. He was with the Lexington Leader before entering the war service in 1917, and has recently returned from Pensacola, Fla., where he had been in the naval aviation since last August.

Corp. James A. Duffey has received his final discharge papers from the service, and has returned to his home in Paris. He is a guest of his mother, Mrs. Lucy Duffey, on Link avenue. Corp. Duffey was a member of Co. B, 72d Engineers, in the American Expeditionary Forces overseas. He is a brother of Miss Luna Duffey, of Link avenue.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Auctioneer M. F. Kenney sold Saturday morning at the court house door in this city, for Master Commissioner O. T. Hinton, the residence of the late Mr. H. Clay Hutchcraft, located on South Main street, to Mrs. Fanniebelle Sutherland, for $7,000.

The old Garrett Davis property of twenty-two acres and a brick residence, fronting on Vine street, in this city, has been purchased for about $15,000, by the Wakefield & Davis Realty Co., of Shelbyville. The property was owned by Misses Mary, Lula, Alice and Sue Ford, daughters and heirs of the late Mr. James E. Ford. The tract, which adjoins the Henry Addition to Paris, will probably be platted into building lots and sold at public auction. The purchasers recently held a successful sale of lots in the Fairview Addition to Paris, being the Taylor property, located at the intersection of the North Middletown and Paris and the Paris and Maysville turnpikes.

READ METER WITH CAMERA.

Photographic reading of electric, gas and water meters has been made possible through the development of a special camera recently introduced for the use of public utility companies. The reason for making meter readings in this manner is to obviate errors and disputes, as well as to save time and labor, says an illustrated story in the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The apparatus is made in the form of an oblong box, provided with a high-grade lens and a simple automatic shutter which permits the time of exposure to be varied from one-fifth to one-half second, according to working conditions. Four miniature tungsten lamps provide sufficient light for photographing meter dials. Roll films permitting seventy-five exposures are used in the device, while the chamber for carrying two additional spools is provided. In making readings with the instrument the front opening of the camera is pressed against a meter dial and a small lever moved. This action automatically turns on the light, opens and closes the shutter, and finally extinguishes the lamps. After each exposure the operating lever locks automatically against movement until the film has been wound preparatory for another photograph.

SUMMER COMPLAINT QUICKLY RELIEVED.

"About two years ago when suffering from a severe attack of summer complaint, I took Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it relieved me almost instantly," writes Mrs. Henry Jewett, Clark Mills, N. Y. This is an excellent remedy for colic and diarrhoea and should be kept at hand by every family.

GIANT ROOSTER FELS MAN

(Tyringham Dispatch to the Boston American.)

Selectman Ahab Babbitt was set upon, knocked down and nearly killed into insensibility by a gigantic Rhode Island Red cockerel belonging to the prize flock of Brookville Farm. The accident occurred on the State road in front of the farm, and Mr. Babbitt was found beside the road with his chest severely lacerated and taken home. He is said to be on the way to recovery and the vicious cockerel that attacked him to be still at large.

HOW BATTLES ARE PAINTED

France, in order to preserve the acts of heroism of her soldiers, has sent many of her best artists to the front. Among them is Charles Fouquay, noted principally for his marine paintings. To an interviewer for Cartoons Magazine M. Fouquay explained how he worked.

"I keep," he said, "two or three miles in the rear, and when the fighting is over, I rush to the battlefield, make quick sketches of various points before the bodies and the debris have yet been removed; and the soldiers who have taken part in the battle explain to me the positions and the very attitude of the fighters, often even mimicking them before me, and pointing out on my sketch the changes I ought to make."

APPOINTMENTS ARE MANY

A number of appointments have recently been made at the Experiment Station. In order that the public may know who is who when writing for information, the editor is giving these appointments below:

Grimes, Assistant in Husbandry; Mary E. Sweeney, Head of Department of Home Economics; Thomas Cooper, Director of Extension Division; T. R. Bryant and Geoffrey Morgan, Assistant Director of Extension; A. J. Steiner, Instructor of Veterinary Science, and N. R. Elliott, in charge of Extension Specialists.

AMERICAN IS HONORED

Carries Sword of Honor in Shakespeare Parade.

First Time in History Foreigner Has Taken Part in Stratford Ceremony.

London.—A very graceful compliment was paid to the United States in general and the American army in particular when the mayor of Stratford-on-Avon invited Col. F. F. Longley to carry the sword of honor in the annual parade to the Stratford church. This is the first time in the history of the town that a citizen of a foreign nation has been asked to take such a leading part in this annual ceremony.

Over thirty American officers, who are residing at Stratford-on-Avon while taking instruction in various branches of learning, were also invited to take part in the parade, and they formed a guard of honor for the mayor and town councillors.

Sir Sidney Lee, chairman of the trustees of Shakespeare's birthplace, had invited several noted Americans to Stratford for a week-end visit, among the guests being John A. Stewart and Maj. and Mrs. L. L. Semman, representing the Sulgrave Institution (American branch); Col. Longley and representatives of the United States navy, A. D. Flower, mayor of Stratford, and Sir Frank Benson assisted in receiving the guests, and it was suggested that they should be invited to take part in the ceremonial parade to the church.

The dean of Exeter preached the sermon, and he referred to the presence of the Americans. All the municipal officers of the town were present in full regalia, and the quaint and unique sight was thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors and guests.

PUT WOODEN LEG ON COW

Remarkable Operation Performed in English Hospital Where Animals Are Treated.

Camden Town, Eng.—One of the most remarkable hospitals in the world is that of the Royal Veterinary college here, where more than 5,000 animals are treated every year at a cost of over $30,000 per annum.

It is a most palatial edifice, and contains a pharmacy and operating theater, sick stables, Turkish and electric baths, and a ward capable of accommodating eighty or more in-patients.

Horses with broken legs are provided with a singularly ingenious appliance for the purpose of giving absolute rest while in an upright position. This consists of a sling or hammock three feet broad, which passes under the stomach and is hauled taut by means of ropes and pulleys, thus taking all weight off the limbs, the injured one of which is bound in iron splints and fastened with leather straps.

"Advice gratis" is daily given to poor men respecting the physical condition of their ponies or donkeys, and dogs and cows are also treated. One of the latter, by the way, was a veritable curiosity—a fine young Alderney which had been kicked by a vicious horse while grazing in a meadow. The fracture was so serious the limb was amputated and a wooden one substituted, the latter being kept in position by means of broad body straps.

ACTS TO HALT BAD CHECKS

Pennsylvania Legislature Makes the Issuance of Worthless Draft Misdemeanor.

Philadelphia.—Issuance of worthless checks will find new perils from now on in practicing that method of fraud.

A law has been placed upon the statute books of Pennsylvania defining the issuance of a worthless check as a misdemeanor. Hereafter, under its provisions, not only will be issuing of a "no account" check, or one of the kind which returns with the inscription "not sufficient," be punishable, but the new law says, "the mere fact of making, drawing or delivering such a check will be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud," unless the drawer makes good the amount of the check with interest within ten days.

For the person who draws and utters a worthless check for an amount less than $20 the penalty on conviction is $100 fine or 30 days' imprisonment, while for the drawer of a check for more than $20 the imprisonment is two years.

TO USE WOMEN AS POLICE

Efficient Work Done in England During War Wins Place for Them in Peace.

London.—The question of appointing women as police officers was recently brought before the Manchester watch committee when a deputation from the Council of Christian Congregations waited upon the committee and suggested that in view of the efficient work of women as police, park-keepers and patrols the committee should appoint and, if necessary, send for training suitable women for service in the police force.

The Manchester Guardian reports that the Bolton watch committee has decided to appoint four women constables for duty in the borough. They will wear uniforms and will patrol the streets, chiefly in the interests of women, girls and children.

AIRPLANE PATROL FOR FOREST FIRES

Federal Forest Service Is Making Experiments With Army Machines.

FORESTER TELLS ABOUT TRIP

Gives Interesting Account of Experiences Together With Observations as to Feasibility of This Method of Fire Detection.

Washington, D. C.—Airplane fire patrol of the national forests by army machines was begun as an experiment for the forest service recently. The first report from a forester has just come to headquarters here after an exciting observation flight from Mather Field made over the southern patrol route in California, covering portions of the Eldorado and Stanislaus forest preserves.

The trip was taken by Assistant District Forester How for the collection of data as to the feasibility of this novel method of fire detection; what should be done to fight the flames, if possible from the plane; how alarms may promptly be given; what style of plane or balloon is best adapted, and what additional apparatus may be necessary to make successful this attempt at more effectually safeguarding remote and inaccessible stretches of practically unexplored country from the scourge which annually destroys thousands upon thousands of acres of timber rapidly becoming well nigh priceless.

Tells Stirring Tale.

Forester How not only covers all these interesting points, but tells a stirring tale of adventure in doing so. After describing his preparations for the trip, he continues:

"My pilot was Sergeant McKee, who is one of the army flying instructors. The plane we used was a Curtiss JM-1 with an OX-5 motor. There are no controls in front, so all I had to do was to sit strapped to my seat. We started about nine o'clock. I had heard so much of persons becoming nauseated that I was expecting to feel funny, but I never had that kind of a symptom. My impression was that we were standing still, when in fact we were going 70 miles an hour. We flew up the American valley to Placerville; thence to Chinese, ten miles southeast of Sonora.

"On the trip we saw five fires, all of which were outside of the forest boundaries. The largest was near Placerville and had been burning a week.

"The country is so rugged that a landing could not have been made to fight a fire without a crash. The pilot agreed to this and steered to the west of the peak instead of to the east, and by doing this, we missed seeing some of the country the patrol is expected to cover. A forest patrol by aircraft is more hazardous than the flying that is usually done.

"My pilot made me understand that our trip scared him more than any other trip he had ever made, simply because he could not make his plane attain the elevation necessary for relative safety. He said he would take no more passengers in the future. To do so would mean that he could cover only portions of the forest which could be seen from the lookout points.

"Getaway Extremely Difficult. "In landing at Chinese for luncheon we broke our tail skid, but were able to replace it. Our getaway was extremely difficult, and I did a heap of thinking. Returning, we made a direct flight to Mather Field at an elevation of 6,000 feet. When about half way the pilot said he was going to make a straight dip. He had made a series in the morning of 50 to 70 feet on an angle. This time he shot down for 500 feet.

"This was quite thrilling, but nothing to the tail spin he put the machine through in descending to Mather Field. I had no warning and felt as if we were going down a series of corkscrew curves at a terrific rate. The earth looked like an ocean during a heavy sea. We dropped 1,500 feet in this manner and then gracefully volplaned to the field within a hundred feet of the hangar. Our total flight time was about four hours and the distance covered 250 miles.

"Fires have already been detected from airplanes that have not been picked up by the lookout men. There is no question in my mind that it is the most feasible method of prompt fire detection. I believe, however, that the expense of establishing such a patrol would be prohibitive for the forest service.

"I am convinced more than ever that the dirigible with helium gas will be the type of ship we shall use in the future. I predict that within five years our present system of lookout patrol will practically be a thing of the past and also that the suppression of forest fires will commence immediately after discovery. In other words, the fire fighting forces will accompany the observer in a dirigible. When a fire is discovered one or two men will climb down and put it out. There will then be different methods of fire suppression than we now use. It will be possible to carry large tanks of water and motors to pump it on a fire. Chemicals, perhaps, may also be used."

A Bag of Peanuts

By ALDEN CHAPMAN

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

Warren Dole drove a delivery wagon, with the same vim, abandon and enjoyment that he would have exercised had it been a chariot. He had opened his eyes wide, in the midst of keen pleasures and great expectations, a letter had come from an indulgent uncle appraising him of the fact that a great flood had swept away the plant upon which he depended for his revenue.

"Coming on to stand by your side and work tooth and nail for you," wrote the loyal-souled Warren, but he received a reply, prompt and final:

"Stay where you are and make a man of yourself. There are too many gathering up the wreck of my fortune already."

Then Warren went the rounds of his friends clearly apprised of the difference between an heir expectant and a pauper without even a position, sold off his bachelor belongings and removed from a sumptuous suite to a small room in a cheap quarter. He sent the proceeds to his uncle and started out to face life with a capital comprising perfect health and a clear conscience.

Warren chuckled as he drove a little covered delivery wagon the first day of his acceptance of the only job that came his way. He possessed a rare sense of humor and the quaintness of his position amused him. In the back of the wagon was a great wooden box that usually held bushels and bushels of crisp salted peanuts. Warren was in fact one of a numerous group who went around daily and filled the glass penny-in-the-slot machines which held "Grigson's Famous One Cent Lunches." The machines were set wherever there was a likelihood of the passer-by being attracted by the fact that the expenditure of a mere cent would secure a toothsome handful of the anomalous fresh salted peanuts.

One of the most ardent of the customers of the luxury was Benny Lee. He had acquired a penny one morning and had started out early to invest in his favorite esculent. Warren, on his way to headquarters to secure his daily supply, saw the little fellow approach a corner machine, insert his penny in its slot and turn the supply-controlling knob. No result—the glass container was empty. Little Benny shook the machine, pounded it, a look of distress on his face, and he began to cry. Warren pulled up promptly.

"Empty, my little man," he spoke. "Now hop up here beside me, and I'll see that you get the most famous penny's worth of peanuts any boy ever happened onto."

It was less than a mile to the warehouse, and once arrived there Warren gave Benny a big paper bag and led him to a chute.

"Hold it under the end here," directed the big-hearted Warren, and Benny's eyes bulged as at the touch of a lever the chute disgorged a torrent of peanuts, filling the bag to overflowing. Within an hour Benny was back home with his wonderful story of a real living Santa Claus and his wonderful treasure.

It was that same afternoon that Warren Dole, passing a tree-shaded yard near to the point where he had met little Benny, halted to survey a scene that did his heart good. Seated on the grass were nearly a dozen little children, and near them wooden plates heaped high with peanuts. Benny was in view as host of the happy coterie, while near by, dishing out lemonade, was a graceful, sweet-faced girl, unmistakably his sister.

"Oh, there's my friend!" cried Benny, and bolted for the fence. The young lady followed him, for Benny had seized her skirt and insisted on an introduction to "the bestest man in the world," and when a few minutes later Warren pursued his way, it was with a lovely face dancing before his mental vision.

It got to be so before the month was over that Warren Dole called frequently at the home of Adrienne Weston. He had come to learn that the grizzled, harsh-featured man he occasionally saw about the place was Benny's father and Adrienne's stepfather. Mr. Weston was a drinker, treated the two with little kindness, and Warren with a jealous pang learned that he was intent on marrying Adrienne to a favorite boon companion whom Adrienne detested. In tears, after she and Warren had become better acquainted, Adrienne told of her misery and her fears.

"My stepfather says he will take little Benny away from me and turn me out on the street if I do not marry his friend," sobbed Adrienne. "He has got so, too, that when he is in drink he abuses both of us dreadfully," and from the confession there grew a plan that solved all the distress of the troubled Adrienne.

One afternoon when the cruel stepfather was on one of his drinking bouts an extraordinary wedding procession left the Weston place. Warren and Adrienne led, arm in arm, Benny coming after, tugging at a suitcase. There was a call upon a minister, and then the little party took a train for the old home of Warren. For he had received a letter from his uncle, informing him that out of the wreck of his estate sufficient salvage had been acquired to start his favorite nephew in business and maintain a pleasant home for all hands around.

UNCLE SAM SAYS SO.

Uncle Sam is worried over the price the housekeeper is paying for beef. Uncle Sam is so much worried that he has looked into the matter to find where the blame lies. Uncle Sam states that the farmer is getting a lower price for his cattle than he did during the war and that the packer is selling carcasses of beef from 15 to 29 per cent. lower than in March of this year.

From this it would appear that the housekeeper must fight the retailer to get the reduced price which after-the-war conditions warrant. That the situation is a serious one can be seen from what Uncle Sam recently announced for publication:

"This situation is a real menace to the farmer and to the consuming public as well. Many cattle raisers in response to the demand for meat production for the army are now maturing, and if marketed on a falling market will cause heavy loss to the producers, with the result that declining production may be expected in the future."

FIRST GUN FIRED.

Fern Creek, near Louisville, staged the opening Farmers' Community meeting for the season. In spite of an acute labor shortage, the evening meetings were overflow affairs. The program evidently got results for the committee which handled the meeting early in August. At that time Mr. Geoffrey Morgan of the College of Agriculture will be on hand to help them organize for greater efficiency in community work.

LOSS OF APPETITE.

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals, so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation, as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it.

W. S. S. GIVES MAN FREEDOM.

In one court in Louisville, Ky., War Savings Stamps put a professional bondsman out of business in at least one instance, and proved a real saving to the holder. A striking lineman has been arrested and was taken before a U. S. Commissioner. His bond was fixed at $500. The labor union of which he was a member had bought freely of War Savings Stamps and $500 of these were pledged to answer for the striker's appearance. The "baby bonds" will continue to draw 4 per cent. interest while they are in escrow, and no bondsman will get a fat fee.

ARMY NOW DEMOBILIZING TEN THOUSAND MEN DAILY.

Demobilization is proceeding at a rate of more than 10,000 men per day, and the total should pass the 3,000,000 mark by July 25. A War Department report showed 2,847,686 officers and men discharged, with some camps yet to be heard from. Enlistments have begun to show the impetus of the department's advertising campaign. The total is now 75,000.

PLANS PERFECTED FOR REORGANIZING NATIONAL GUARD

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Final plans for the reorganization of the National Guard on the sixteen-division basis, with divisional areas following the same limits as did those from which guard divisions were organized for service against Germany, have been approved by Secretary Baker.

Notifications were sent to the various adjutant generals of the units allotted to their states and of the readiness of the federal government to extend recognition after the required inspection had been made.

The organization table announced in the plan provides for forty-seven regiments and eighteen battalions of infantry; six regiments, seventeen squadrons and nineteen troops of cavalry; ten regiments, twenty battalions and seven batteries of field artillery and seventy-four coast artillery companies, with additional forces of engineers, sanitary and signal corps.

A maximum expansion to about 440,000 men, or 800 per each senator and congressman, is provided for, but the units for the time being are to be organized on the basis of 65 men per company of infantry, as appropriations for the National Guard for the fiscal year of 1920 permit only the organization of the guard on the basis of 200 men for each senator and representative, giving an aggregate strength of about 106,000.

Kentucky's reorganized guard will have one regiment and one battalion of infantry; one squadron of cavalry; one machine gun troop; one battalion of field artillery; one field hospital company and one ambulance company.

Other state allotments show that New York, because of its preponderance in population, will have the biggest part in the reorganized guard, six full regiments of field troops and twelve companies of coast artillery having been assigned to that state.

Pennsylvania is authorized to maintain four full regiments in addition to auxiliary troops, while Illinois is given three complete regiments and Massachusetts two.

The assignment to Texas of six full regiments of cavalry besides four other regiments and auxiliaries, was considered significant.

DOGS USED AS RED CROSS AID.

(Indianapolis News.)

The Spartan and some other ancient used dogs in war and probably this use was continued to the time of Julius Caesar, if not later. Antony, in Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," act 3, scene 1, says, "Cry havoc, and let slip the dogs of war." The war dogs were cased in armor and wore spiked collars on their necks.

The dog Kratim as the finest representative of his race has by Mohammedan mythology been admitted into the Mussulman heaven. Kratim was a dog endowed with the gift of prophecy and was the watcher over the slumbers of the Seven Sleepers Ephesus. So that he also appears in Christian mythology.

In the present great war real dogs rendered great service in Red Cross work.

Two Lovers

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

The belle of the village, Gladys Marcy, had two aspirants for her favor upon whom she bestowed especial attention.

They were Alan Druse and Morton Bayne—opposites in every sense of the word. They had each attracted Gladys and it was difficult for her to decide which appealed to her liking most: Alan, with his flashing, fun-loving ways, or Morton, with a soul enwrapped in music and seeming always in a poetic dream.

Alan loved her, or fancied he did, and his vivacious ways bade fair in the eyes of the gossips to outvie Morton so far as courting went. It had begun to dawn upon Gladys, however, that Alan was somewhat frivolous.

It was all Morton with Gladys when, in the church choir at entertainments, or passing an evening in the Marcy home he wrought from his violin bewildering witchery of harmony and expression that caused her heartstrings to quiver with a rare delight. He had never, however, hinted at anything more than friendship. His income was modest and seemed a steady one, for a number of his compositions had become generally popular and likely to remain so, and out of royalties he had received he had already accumulated several thousand dollars.

Gladys fluttered visibly one evening when Morton appeared at her home while Alan was already in evidence. Somehow the manner of the latter had indicated to her that he was on the verge of a proposal, and she had wondered how she could seek to evade a direct decision, feeling instinctively that she scarcely knew her own mind as yet. A certain sullenness overspread the face of Alan as he discerned that he was not to have Gladys exclusively for that evening at least. He looked bored as the parents insisted on some music and Morton, ever accommodating, brought out his violin.

It was in the midst of a lovely sonata that entranced all his auditors save Alan that the unexpected happened. Gladys was seated by the lamp on the table when there was a quick hiss and then a sudden outburst of flame. She uttered a vivid scream, her hands went up to her face with frantic suddenness. Alan sprang back, quite unnerved and affrighted. Morton cast aside his violin with a fling and sprang toward her, noting that one sleeve of the light, dainty dress she wore was all ablaze. There was a second explosion, and he had extinguished the flaming dress when his eyes closed with a spasm of pain. Then—darkness, so utter for himself that he groped blindly about him.

"Is Gladys safe?" fell from his lips in an eager, anxious gasp. "I cannot see! I fear—"

There he paused, appalled. In vain he strove to strain his darkened vision. It was only from the exclamations of the others that he could trace what was happening! Gladys, insensible and sustaining frightful face burns from the second explosion, himself helpless to assist her, the injured girl carried to her room, a collapse on his own part, a fading away of all consciousness, its feeble, bewildering return, and a realization that old Doctor Moore was at his side examining his eyes.

"He probably saved Gladys by extinguishing her flaming dress," Morton caught the physician's tones, "but at a terrible cost—he is utterly blind!"

It was many days before the lives of those disturbed by the startling event of the explosion settled down into the old peaceful grooves. Only once did Alan Druse call at the Marcy home. He was genuinely solicitous. A glance into the next room, a sight of Gladys so shocked him that soon he left the house, never to return. And Gladys, understanding, turned her head on her pillow and wept bitterly. Then, when her nurse had left her alone, she stole to a mirror with her eyes almost affrighted as she staggered back to the couch. Her beauty was gone! She realized now why Alan Druse had fled as from a pestilence.

It was a week later that Morton Bayne knew the worst. He was told that his case was hopeless. For a time that gentle, sensitive soul was dumb. Then in sorrow, in self-counsel and prayer he emerged, chastened, patient, with a rare smile upon his face and his mind at perfect peace.

"There is music!" he whispered rapidly to himself, and then, half doubtingly, but with a longing quiver in his tone: "There is Gladys to dream of, to love, even though she never thinks of me save as a friend."

The mother of Gladys one day led the welcome adored hero who had saved the life of her daughter into the room where that daughter sat. She left those two afflicted ones alone, went out and closed the door. Before that patient face and the slightest eyes and at a thought of what this sacrifice meant to her, Gladys impulsively extended her trembling hands to meet the groping ones of her visitor. "Morton!" she sobbed that name only, and her head fell upon his breast.

The face of the blind man was momentarily glorified—heart to heart, he could feel the responsive thrill to his ardent own, and lo! there flooded his soul a light that could never dim—the radiance of lasting, perfect love.

OLD-TIME POKER THRIVES IN GOLD CAMPS OF WEST.

Gold isn't dug only from the ground during the big mining excitement in Tonopah, Nevada. It is dug also from the pockets of prospectors who use the five-card games as a means.

Poker of the stud variety, featured by wild betting, is the engrossing nightly business in Tonopah. The room that holds the shiny thirty-two-foot bar is deserted, for soft drinks only can only be served, but back of that room another with several tables. Around them are grouped professional gamblers, the prospector, the small Tonopah business man and the hard rock miner.

The bets are large. Red chips are 50 cents, blue ones $1 and orange ones cost $5 each. Pots running up to $500 are won and lost with a speed that would stir the blood of the "pennant" crowd in a cautious community.

The game keeper belongs to the old school of the West when things were wilder. With his hat tossed sidewise on his thick black hair, and wearing a loud checkered shirt, he deals the cards while a big diamond flashes from his right hand. From the corner of his mouth hangs a cigarette. This dealer every night sees broken men leave the room, and sees some winners, too, but his face never changes.

WAYS TO BEAT THE HEAT.

Get the surplus fat off your body. Keep cool mentally, as well as physically.

Keep the head protected from the sun.

Take little meat—no alcohol. Do not overload and distend the stomach with sweet, "fizzy" drinks that only increase thirst.

Slightly acid drinks, such as unsweetened orangeade, lemon juice and water, are more thirst quenching.

Get enough sleep.

Don't talk about the heat.

Don't read about the heat.

Don't look at the thermometer.

Try to keep the air moving around your body.

Get all the fun out of the hot weather that you can, without overdoing, and remember that millions of busy people are not letting the thermometer worry them.

GUSHER MAKES MILLIONAIRE OF STOKER ON A TRANSPORT

A "millionaire stoker" with two years and five months naval service to complete before his enlistment runs out, arrived in New York on the Imperator in the person of E. L. Perkins, of Eastland, Texas. Oil discovered on his farm, which his father is running for him, will give him an income of $1,000,000 a year, he was told in a message from the elder Perkins received just before the big transport left for Brest on her last previous trip.

Young Perkins enlisted in the Navy in December, 1917, was assigned to the transport side and later was sent into the Imperator's engine room for duty as a coal passer. A few weeks ago, a six thousand barrel gusher was discovered on the farm and drillers have started boring seven other wells, he has been notified.

The coal passer millionaire will not try to get out of his navy enlistment, he said, and will use the money "for the benefit of the world and Christianity."

FAYETTE MAN GETS FISH HOOK IN EYE.

While fishing in a pond near Hutchison, this county, Charles Wiley, of Lexington, sustained serious injury to his right eye, when in making a cast the fishhook caught in the optic. He was sent home in an automobile, and from there to the Good Samaritan Hospital, in Lexington, where he received medical attention.

THIS CAPS THE CLIMAX OF ACUTE TRICKERY.

'Tis a funny world, an investigation of the police department brought out in Lexington recently.

Following reports that buckets of blackberries were being sold with only a layer an inch in depth on the top of the bucket and that the remainder was filled with sacks, rocks, sawdust and anything else that might have been available, the department came upon Chester Dawson, who was in charge of a truck-load of the berries.

Dawson had brought the berries all the way from Log Lick, in Clark county, to dispose of them in Lexington and did not know the contents of the buckets was other than berries until several had been sold. The man who owned the berries had hired several persons to pick them, paying them by the bucket. It was the pickers, he said, that perpetrated the camouflage. The police were satisfied Dawson was not to blame.

The money was refunded to those purchasing the "phony" buckets, but Dawson was convinced he was up against hard luck in hauling twenty buckets of rocks to Lexington. The rest of the load, about fifty buckets in all, were all right and all the buckets were filled with honest-to-goodness berries and sold rapidly.

BLACKBERRIES NOW A LUXURY.

Blackberries have come again and, while in the former years they were too homely a commodity for the subject of discourse in a society column, they have now become a luxury and a very interesting topic even to the idle rich. At a dollar and a half for a small bucket, the old fashioned rows upon rows of "blackberry jam and jelly, to say nothing of cordials and wines, have become listed with the good things of the past until some sort of uprising or legislation regulates the profiteer to the place where all the atrocities are re-vented.

Speaking of the idle rich, those with motor cars could reap a benefit themselves and also confer a sweet favor upon less fortunate neighbors and friends by arranging picnic parties this week to go to the country and get their own blackberries instead of just taking an aimless ride. Many a thrifty housewife would gladly plan all the other details if some kindly disposed person would only offer the mode of transportation.

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT

J. A. Farrell, Division Manager of the Red Cross, at Washington, was arrested as he came out of George Harvey's from a fashionable dinner, on a warrant charging him with non-support of the family he left behind him in Chicago.

There are black sheep in all flocks, but there are entirely too many men of the Farrell stripe living off the money contributed by a generous public to a worthy cause, and not to support such creatures in semi-idleness!
